FEDERALIST SOCIETY

As you may know, when there is an opening on the United States Supreme Court or another federal court, the President of the United States nominates someone to fill the opening. The United States Senate then holds a hearing to either confirm or reject the nomination.

7. When you decided for whom you would vote for President of the United States, how important was it to you whom that person might nominate to serve as Justice on the United States Supreme Court and other federal courts relative to other issues? Would you say...(READ AND ROTATED)

As you may know, when there is an opening on the United States Supreme Court or another federal court, the President of the United States nominates someone to fill the opening. The United States Senate then holds a hearing to either confirm or reject the nomination. 7. When you decided for whom you would vote for President of the United States, how important was it to you whom that person might nominate to serve as Justice on the United States Supreme Court and other federal courts relative to other issues? Would you say...(READ)

As you may know, when there is an opening on the United States Supreme Court or another federal court, the President of the United States nominates someone to fill the opening. The United States Senate then holds a hearing to either confirm or reject the nomination. 7. When you decided for whom you would vote for President of the United States, how important was it to you whom that person might nominate to serve as Justice on the United States Supreme Court and other federal courts relative to other issues? Would you say...(READ)

10. As I mentioned earlier, the President of the United States is responsible for nominating Justices to the United States Supreme Court and judges to other federal courts while the United States Senate is constitutionally-bound to provide its advice and consent for each nominee, typically done in the form of public confirmation hearings. Which of the following do you think is most important for U.S. Senators to consider when confirming a judge or Justice?

(PROBE: And would that be STRONGLY or SOMEWHAT AGREE PERSON 1/PERSON 2?) Person 1: "We need somebody who's got the heart, the empathy, to recognize what it's like to be a young teenage mom. The empathy to understand what it's like to be poor, or African-American, or gay, or disabled, or old. And that's the criteria by which I'm going to be selecting my judges." Person 2: We need judges who look at each individual equally. We need judges who will apply the law the same to each person regardless of an individual's background or cultural or economic circumstances.

11. I am now going to read you the opinions of two candidates on the types of judges they prefer. Please tell me which candidate's opinion comes closest to your own. (PROBE: And would that be STRONGLY or SOMEWHAT AGREE PERSON 1/PERSON 2?) Person 1: "We need somebody who's got the heart, the empathy, to recognize what it's like to be a young teenage mom. The empathy to understand what it's like to be poor, or African-American, or gay, or disabled, or old. And that's the criteria by which I'm going to be selecting my judges." Person 2: We need judges who look at each individual equally. We need judges who will apply the law the same to each person regardless of an individual's background or cultural or economic circumstances.
